

If you love flying, and you wouldn't be reading this if you didn't, you will be able to imagine the smile on Marie's face — a former pilot who thought she would never fly again, when she the took the controls of a Grob 103 fitted with hand controls, operated by Freedom's Wings International. That flight, on an obscure airfield east of Buffalo in the summer of 2001, was the genesis of Freedom's Wings Canada, born in May of 2004 at York Soaring, with the arrival of a hand-control equipped Krosno and trailer.
